

Project T- Trees for Life

Recently, many people who lived within the grounds of the Angkor Archaeological Park were evicted from their houses and relocated to an area called Run Tak Ek, approximately 40 km from Siem Reap city. This area, once a forest, was cleared many years ago for the farming of cassava and rice. Although the land has been transformed into a new town with schools, markets, and a provincial hall, it remains incredibly barren, lacking trees that could provide cover and shelter for the thousands of relocated residents.

Khiri Reach has collaborated with an NGO called Cambodia Rural Students Trust, which has initiated Project T- Trees for Life. They are raising funds for a tree planting program aimed at bringing much-needed cover and protection to the communities in the area. Families and community members will receive the knowledge necessary to ensure the successful growth and flourishing of these trees, thereby creating a healthier, brighter, and greener environment to live in.

UPDATE

In December 2023, our Cambodia Khiri Reach Ambassador and General Manager went to inspect the project area for the first time with the Cambodia Rural Student Trust team.

On February 29, 2024, the Trees for Life project delivered its first batch of trees to the village of Ta Ek. 450 trees were planted in Bloc M, the most critical area near the school. These trees will provide much-needed shade and shelter for children in this open and exposed location. In collaboration with villagers, some trees were also planted around houses and streets. Interviews with villagers helped determine the types of trees needed, resulting in a diverse selection including 20 different varieties, some of which are fruit trees.

The project's success depends heavily on educating villagers, especially young people, about proper watering and care to ensure the trees flourish. To address this, our Khiri Reach Ambassador, Mr. Buseun You, visited the project on March 23, 2024, to provide knowledge and support to the local community.

We are proud to have Jaya House River Park and Explore (UK), a key travel partner, join us in this initiative. Project T – Trees for Life estimates that the relocation has adversely affected approximately 7,000 families. To address this impact, the project aims to donate and plant a total of 70,000 trees. With our partners' support, we expect to complete the project within two years.

On January 8, 2025, Khiri Reach Cambodia continue to support the project for another $1,000. Here is a picture of how plants are as of June 2025:

On June 28, 2025, Bunseun You, representing Khiri Reach ambassador, was honored with a certificate of appreciation from the Deputy Governor of Siem Reap. The certificate recognized KHIRI Reach's donation of 40 trees and was presented during a planting event with the Cambodia Rural Students Trust (CRST). Following to 14 August 2025. The sign has been installed on Angkor Tree Road and Wat Bo Road
